

Members

The CSLF is currently comprised of 25 members. Membership is open to national governmental entities that are significant producers or users of fossil fuels and that have a commitment to invest resources in research, development, and demonstration activities in carbon dioxide capture and storage technologies.

Source: IMF (GDP 2008 data) and EIA (2005 data)